Dear Constituents of Omaha's City Council District 7,

I have worked for Brian Thommes for the past two years at Quiktrip. Over this time, I have been able to get to know him on a professional and personal level. I strongly believe that he is the right man for the job of city councilor.

Brian is a man that you can trust to constantly have your back. While working for him, he always valued my opinion and concerns no matter how low on the totem pole I was. He honestly listened to my needs and didn't just push them aside. He always put my needs in front of his own, even if that meant he had to work extra hours.

On countless occasions, I witnessed Brian demonstrate honesty and fairness with both customers and employees.

Brian is the type of person you want advocating for you. If he promises or tells you something, he always follows through on it. Integrity is a strong quality in Brian.

He is a man of action, not just words, and doesn't stray away from adversity, but embraces it.

He has a vision for the community. Brian has a desire to see Omaha become more sustainable both economically and geographically. His desire to see young talent stay in the area hits home to me as a voter.

As a twenty-two year old female student, I know that Brian is fighting for me.

He will be building a community where I can succeed and grow. He will be creating a place where I can raise my kids and see my family flourish.

Omaha needs a city councilor like Brian, who embraces diversity and takes ownership over our city. I know he will work hard to make our community a better place and will not back down.

This is why I am voting for Brian Thommes for Omaha city council.

Sincerely,

Julia Fries
